
The 2010 Range and Natural Resources Camp, sponsored by the California-Pacific Section of the Society for Range Management (SRM) and the University of California Cooperative Extension, will be held at the Elkus Youth Ranch near Half Moon Bay, California. The camp will begin with registration on Sunday, June 20th at 1:00 P.M. and end on Friday, June 25th after lunch.

PURPOSE

Range Camp is designed to provide teenagers with an appreciation of the extent, importance and value of California's rangelands and natural resources. Range Camp fosters an appreciation for several fields of applied science and management through interaction with university faculty and experienced professionals in classroom and field activities.

PROGRAM

Topics and sessions include plant identification, livestock production, wildlife management, forestry, fire ecology, geology, soils, water resources, rangeland ecosystems, and technologies used in natural resource science and management. Sessions by specialists are given every morning and afternoon, and include both indoor lectures and outdoor activities. Students are tested at the end of the week on their understanding of the materials presented. The top two campers will be awarded an all-expense-paid trip to represent California-Pacific Section at SRM's High School Youth Forum(HSYF) held in conjunction with its National science meeting in Billings, MT, February 2011. The 3rd highest camper will be invited to attend as well, but will need to find other means of paying for the trip. (Delegates must still be in high school through Jan 2011.)

ELIGIBILITY

Young men and women, ages 15-18 by June 20, 2010, interested in natural resources management and science are eligible. Selection is made without regard to race, creed, origin, or gender.

CAMP LOCATION / FACILITIES

Elkus Youth Ranch is operated by the University of California Cooperative Extension (http://ucce.ucdavis.edu/counties/cesanmateo/Custom_Program/index.htm).

COST

The camp fee is $400.00. This includes meals, lodging, recreation, and transportation costs while at camp. Transportation to camp from the camper's home on Sunday and returning from camp on Friday is not included in the camp fee. Arrangements can be made with the camp staff to shuttle campers between the camp and the San Francisco Airport or the Emeryville Train Station. Emergency medical insurance is provided through event membership in 4-H.

Many students attending camp do so with the sponsorship of a local conservation organization or other group which underwrites all or part of the camp fee. Past sponsors have included Resource Conservation Districts, livestock and farm producer organizations, banks, chambers of commerce, agribusinesses, service clubs, and others having funds for educational purposes. There are no restrictions on the number of applicants that may be supported by a sponsor. Students who would like help finding sponsors in their area should contact:

SELECTION

Farm advisors, 4-H staff and leaders, Resource Conservation District boards and vocational agricultural instructors are asked to take the initiative in selecting delegates to send to camp. Sponsoring organizations and individuals are encouraged to develop their own method of selection. The following criteria may be helpful:

1. Demonstration of leadership ability and good citizenship.
2. Willingness to participate and learn while at camp.
3. Commitment to report on their camp experience upon returning home.
4. Achievements in activities related to rangeland / natural resource management and/or environmental science.
5. Involvement in 4-H clubs, FFA chapters, demonstrated interest in natural resource-related disciplines.
6. Academic proficiency in agriculture, environmental science and/or biology.
